[For the Dispatch.] To Claimants of the Cary Estates. Next of Kin. Heirs at Law, Legatees.

Mooting the claim to the Cary estates. am the recipient of a pamphlet published at London, England, of unclaimed estates and moneys to the amount of many millions sterling now awaiting claimants-among them six Cary or Carey estates. To investigate these claims will require fees to be paid a claim-agent in England, and for compensation, advertising, &c., &c., to some person in America to devote his attention to the business. I have received and answered many letters from claimants, and am not able of myself to carry on the necessary investigations without pecuniary aid from other claimants. It is believed a contribution of five dollars from each claimant will afford a fund sufficient to make an investigation reaching back over two hundred years. I propose to devote my time to the business, and if ascertained facts will admit of it, call a convention of the claimants to make a united effort to secure the property or money. According to reports there are many millions due the Carys alone. All persons interested are respectfully re quested to mail to my address, for such purpose, a post-office order for five dollars, which will be faithfully applied. All persons receiving a copy of this call will oblige to copy and enclose to the address of any claimant they may know, and to furnish as far as in their power their own genealogy. As soon as a sufficient sum is received a remittance will be made to England for desired information. Address PHILIP LEE ANTHONY,

Lonoke, Arkansas. The following note accompanied the above. As it was intended to be private, we omit the writer's name :

Editors Dispatch: I, as a descendant of Colonel Mylles Cary, the emigrant, recently received the foregoing card from Colonel Anthony, of Arkansas, with the request that I would copy and send to all of the Cary race in Virginia. This would be a herculean labor, for their name is legion, so I send it to you and request you to publish it in your paper as a matter of news. It will interest at least half your readers, for they are the most prolific people in the world. It would be best if all the papers in the State were requested to copy. If you will not publish it in any other way than as an advertisement I will have to preach it out for you some day, for I haven't got any money.

Colonel Anthony is very highly connected. being nearly related tesome of the very best families in Richmond and other portions of Virginia. He is now president of the Missouri, Arkansas and Louisiana Railroad and Telegraph Company of Arkansas, and is a Virginian. More than this I know nothing.

d'Espagne-castles in the air. We have a supposed interest in a very large estate of the kind, which interest we would dispose of "on the most favorable terms"-say, for five dollars. However, the Careys are well able to take care of themselves if they are as numerous as our correspondent supposes them to be, and as thorough businessmen as the one whom he names in his letter to us (we omit the name).

The following note from a well-known Virginia astronomer answers a question

ly visible to the naked eye may now all be seen in the early part of the night, and will continue to be visible nearly all of the remainder of the year. Jupiter will disappear first; he may now be seen in the southwest, Venus in the west, and Mars and Saturn in the southeast; the last-named are now about half an hour apart-Saturn on the left-and will gradually approach each other until the 3d of November, at about 8 o'clock, when they will appear to almost occupy the same place, or Saturn will get behind Mars, and afterwards appear on the right.
